Student Learning Outcomes

Student(s) will be able to identify organizational objectives and contribute to the achievement of objectives through the utilization of a business model similar to Management by Objectives. This requires a written agreement between a supervisor and employee, to accomplish measurable on-the-job learning objectives by completing work-based projects involving problem solving and the application of academic theory, skills and knowledge while undertaking new or expanded workplace responsibilities.

Assessment of the Student Learning Outcome will be measured through:

- Employer/ supervisor evaluation of documented workplace objectives/projects using a rating scale to measure how well the workplace objectives/projects were accomplished
- Employer/ supervisor scaled survey evaluating student workplace productivity, the application of theory, skills and knowledge, communication effectiveness, teamwork and student motivation required to achieve the workplace objectives/projects
- Student written essays describing, discussing, and analyzing the workplace objectives and assessing the results
- A faculty worksite visit with the employer/ supervisor to discuss the students' progress and level of contribution toward the achievement of organizational objectives.

Skills required in order to succeed in this course/program

1. Planning
2. Organizing
3. Scheduling
4. Time-management
5. Critical thinking
6. Problem solving
7. Oral, written, and electronic communication
8. Ability to follow written and verbal instructions

Cooperative Work Experience/Internship Overview & Frequently Asked Questions

What is Cooperative Work Experience/Internship?

A cooperative work experience/internship at the College offers students the opportunity to apply knowledge and skills learned in the classroom to the work environment as well as to gain experience related to a specific career. The goal is to assist students in making the transition from school to work by providing hands-on, “real world” learning experiences and practical application of classroom theory.

Can a student repeat Cooperative Work Experience/Internship?

Yes, check with the department you wish to do your cooperative work experience/ internship with and the college requirements.

Are the units transferable?

It depends. The California State University system does accept cooperative work experience/internship credit as elective units. Currently the UC system does not accept the transfer of cooperative work experience/internship units. Private universities and colleges should be contacted individually for their own policy.

[Title 5§55253 College Credit. College Credit and Repetition. (a) For the satisfactory completion of all types of Cooperative Work Experience Education, students may earn up to a total of 16 semester credit hours or 24 quarter credit hours, subject to the following limitations:(1) General Work Experience Education. A maximum of six semester credit hours or nine quarter credit hours may be earned during one enrollment period in general work experience education.(2) Occupational Work Experience Education. A maximum of eight credit hours may be earned during one enrollment period in occupational work experience education. (b) If a college offers only one course in occupational work experience in a given field and that course is not offered as a variable unit open-entry/ open-exit course, the district policy on course repetition adopted pursuant to section 55040 may permit a student to repeat that course any number of times so long as the student does not exceed the limits on the number of units of cooperative work experience education set forth in subdivision (a).Consistent with section 58161, attendance of a student repeating a cooperative work experience course pursuant to this subdivision may be claimed for state apportionment.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Defining & Establishing Learning Objectives

Learning objectives are goals to be accomplished within the cooperative work experience/internship. Prior to beginning the cooperative work experience/internship, students must attend an orientation where they learn how to plan and design the objectives that will be established by the student, employer/supervisor, and instructor.

Objectives are very specific, measurable, have defined goals and a completion date. They include the following elements: the achievement or skill to be learned, how it will be measured, the manner in which it will be accomplished, and when it will be completed.

A large part of the grade depends on the achievement of the objectives. Student input is important and the following are guidelines to help in establishing objectives:

1. Ensure each objective is achievable within the time frame of the cooperative work experience/internship.
2. Ensure each objective is specific enough to be evaluated.
3. Objectives must involve new learning and/or expanded responsibilities, beyond those experienced in previous employment or internships.
4. Ensure the objectives for work by designing them to particular needs.

Quality of the Objectives

Learning objectives are the most important component of a quality cooperative work/internship experience. Clear, challenging objectives will help students grow and perform well on the job and in the classroom. Students in the program do not simply earn units for working; these units reflect specific learning based on measurable objectives. The learning objectives are, in effect, a written agreement between the student, the employer, and college.

How Many Objectives?

The number of objectives that are set is decided by the student and the faculty member. Based on the purpose of the objectives, the degree of difficulty, and the student's ambitions, additional objectives may be set. Students are expected to accomplish as much in their internship as they would in a regular classroom.

GUIDELINES FOR WRITING YOUR OBJECTIVES

Challenging yet achievable learning objectives are the single most important component of a quality cooperative work/internship experience and your grade is dependent on them. As stated earlier, objectives are measurable goals that you set for yourself to be accomplished through your program. They require that you learn or make use of new habits, skills, or information above and beyond your current knowledge.

Each objective must be directly related to your career major and include these four parts:

1. They are very specific: What is it that you want to learn, achieve, or accomplish in your cooperative work experience/internship? For example:
 - Research law cases and write briefs.
 - Operate a camera in a studio and on location productions.
 - Increase my personal sales by 10% over last semester.

2. Determine what your Method of Accomplishment will be. How will you go about learning the information you specified above? For example:
 - Practical hands-on application
 - Instruction/training from my supervisor and/or co-workers
 - Observation
 - Discussing techniques with other employees
 - Reading/studying manuals and tutorials
 - Videos
 - Workshops
 - Using computer programs
 - Reviewing files

3. The results must be Measurable. How will you and your supervisor be able to determine to what degree each objective has been completed? For example:
 - Tests
 - Faculty member and/or supervisors critique/evaluation
 - Videotape critique
 - Submit monthly reports and case files
 - Etc.
4. Specify a Completion date. What is the deadline for each objective? Write a specific date that is prior to the end of the semester.

The objectives will be designed by you with assistance from your employer, and approved by your Cooperative Work Experience/Internship Instructor. Remember to consider the following guidelines for your objectives:

1. The objectives must involve new learning, new growth, new responsibilities, or improvement on the job.
2. Make sure the objectives are specific enough to achieve within the co-operative work experience/internship term and can be objectively evaluated.
3. The objectives you set should benefit your employer too.
4. Use an action verb to begin each objective that will describe what you intend to do (see the action word lists for examples pages 10-11). Avoid vague or broad terms such as: believe, understand, appreciate, get, etc.

Types of Learning Objectives

Think about what it is you want to learn at the work experience/internship site. You might want to ask your supervisor or other employees what suggestions they have; things they've found important to know, or wished they had known early on in their career. This type of objective is most frequently used in the Cooperative Work Experience/Internship course. Remember, you want to increase your breadth of knowledge.

Turning a current part time job into a cooperative work experience/intern position affords you the opportunity to use several types of learning objectives:

New assignments. If you use your current part-time job as a cooperative work experience/internship, you will need to have new learning experiences that can be stated in objective form. To assist you in writing your new objectives you might consider the requirements of the job that is currently a step above yours and what you need to learn in order to be promoted.

Routine duties. Think of new and creative ways you can improve the results of your daily job duties or new aspects for improving efficiency. For problem solving, look at a problem you've run into on the job, dissect it and think of possible solutions and/or improvements. Can you spot a potential problem in the making? If you were in charge, what suggestions could you make to the person doing your job?

Personal improvement. Think about your interactions at work and how you could develop personal habits or social skills that would allow you to become a more desirable employee. How could you improve your communication with co-workers that would result in increased knowledge, new ideas, more production, better cooperation, smoother work flow, etc?

Sample Objectives

Program Major: Aviation Technology

Learn to perform minor aviation repairs under supervision, in accordance with FAA regulations, the manufacturer's manual, or AC43.13, as applicable. This will be learned by studying FAA manuals; training by FAA approved Instructors, and personally working on aircraft with supervision. My work will be evaluated by the FAA instructors and a test, all to be completed by May 16, 200X.

Program Major: Photography

Properly photograph evidence at a crime scene for court cases. I will read and use the procedures from department manuals and have on site instruction from my supervisor. The procedures will be learned by the end of the semester and at least two photographs will have been accepted in court as evidence.

Program Major: Marketing (Sales)

Increase my personal sales by 10% over last year's total. I will do this by developing a written plan to include sales suggestions, producing a better sales presentation, and learning more about the products sold.

I will also learn how to examine and accurately interpret design or engineering sketches and drawings, apply terminology and process used to complete a real world project from start to finish, and work effectively and cooperatively with all other project disciplines involved in the project. The results will be measured by submission of all documents, sketches and drawings to my Internship Supervisor and/or Instructor by May 16, 200X.

ATTENDANCE & TIME SHEET

It is the student's responsibility to record their Cooperative Work Experience/Internship hours worked. At the end of each month, be sure to get your supervisor's signature. Time sheets must be turned in to the instructor. Time sheets are included in this packet. If you need extras, please run additional copies.

STUDENT PROGRESS

Employer Visitations

The instructor of record will contact the work site supervisor during the semester, at least one of which must be in person. The instructor will meet the site supervisor, confirm the appropriateness of the work site and working conditions, informally evaluate student progress, and stay apprised of the student's development on the job.

Employer's Evaluation

The site supervisor will evaluate the student's achievement of the agreed upon objectives using the original Learning Objectives Agreement as a reference and filling in the Student Evaluation by Employer form. These forms will be sent to the employer near the end of the term for the evaluation and returned to the instructor of record for inclusion in the final evaluation.

GRADES

General Policies
